BLIND CHARGES DEMAND PROBE

The Board of Charities Is Asked To Investigate the Blind Home
in Chicago.

INMATES COMPLAIN

Allege That Superintendent Is Unfit for the Place, and the Housekeeper Is Not Qualified.

Chicago, Oct. 7.—Eighteen separate causes for complaint are enumerated in a petition asking for an investigation by the state board of charities to be sent to President William Jayne of Springfield by the inmates of the Illinois Industrial Home for the Blind, 851 Marshall boulevard.

The inmates have taken this course on finding that the proposed inquiry by James O'Connor's committee has been virtually blocked by the attitude of the board of trustees of the home, who declined to co-operate with the committee.

Charge Mismanagement.

The inmates have been struggling to get a betterment of their condition since last July, charging that there was utter mismanagement of everything connected with the home and with the broom factory attached, in which they work. The allegations of the petition are strongly worded.

It is charged that the superintendent, Joseph Schabeck, from his experience and habits, is not a fit man to have management of the home. It is alleged that when he was running for alderman some time ago he took blind inmates of the home into saloons and supplied them with liquor, and that he has entertained friends and relatives for months in the home and at home expense. Schabeck has been superintendent for five years.

Say Food is Poor.

The petition also says that the housekeeper is not competent, and that the foreman of the broom factory is not a proper person for his position, it being alleged that he gets under the influence of liquor. The inmates say in the petition that the food furnished them is badly prepared and of poor quality. They say that there are two inmates of the home who do not work.

Turning to the factory the petition charges that the quality of broom corn supplied is poor and that it is impossible to make good brooms from it. It is suggested that the price said to be paid is large enough to get better quality. The allegation is made that the corn is not properly prepared for use by the seeing help, and that the latter handles the corn in a wasteful manner, making the cost of working the factory higher. It is also charged that other materials are of poor grade.

Investigation Is Urged.

It is said that there is a lack of discipline owing to the incompetency of the foreman, that the machinery is not kept in good order and that seeing help was kept on with nothing to do when the blind workers were laid off. It is said that no more than $1 a day is paid, irrespective of ability, and that the price paid for piece work is in most instances below the union scale. The petition is signed by a committee of three inmates.

A letter is to be written to the board of charities by the O'Connor committee stating that the committee has read the petition and, while not knowing about all, is satisfied that some of the allegations are true, and expressing the opinion that the investigation should be made.

ENGINE EXPLODES WHILE THRESHING

Occurred on Farm of A. T. Brown—Kills One Man—Results in Fire, Destroying Property.

A threshing engine at work on the farm of A. T. Brown, about three miles southwest of this city, exploded at about five o'clock yesterday afternoon, fearfully injuring the owner of the farm, and burning all the barns, straw and grain stacks and granary to the ground. The fire gained rapid headway and soon all the property was destroyed. Brown, who was standing near the engine at the time of the explosion, was hurled a distance of twelve rods through the air and besides receiving internal injuries, was very badly bruised about the head and limbs, and died at ten o'clock last night. Brown leaves a wife and two children, a brother in this city and two brothers in the town of Rock.

It appears that Brown had gotten out an old portable engine, fixed it up, and fired the machine. He intended to make a test as he wished to saw wood later. There was no one on the farm at the time, except his wife and children and they were out watching the repairing of the engine.

His Last Words.

Brown had just told his wife, who was standing beside him, the amount of steam the dial showed, saying: "It's now one hundred and twenty." Those were the last words he uttered for, with a terrific report the boiler burst and he was thrown into a neighboring field, 160 feet away, striking against a barbed wire fence.

C. Griffen, who was working in the woods nearby, heard the explosion and was the first one on the scene. Drs. Gibson and Sutherland were immediately called and they left the city shortly after five o'clock. They found the victim badly bruised, but everything was done to alleviate his sufferings. He died between 10 and 11 o'clock in the evening. The doctors believe that he would have survived the external wounds if it had not been for the burns received by the steam.

Baddy Burned and Cut.

The entire front part of his body was burned and cut in many places by the flying cinders. He was not apparently struck by any part of the engine. The engine was nearly useless, and said to be over twenty-five years old. Besides his wife and two children, three brothers, E. O. Brown of this city, and H. W. and Oscar Brown of the town of Center survive the unfortunate man.

Church of Milwaukee.

ANOTHER CRANK WAS ARRESTED

CAPTURED BY THE SECRET SERVICE MEN.

NO INFORMATION IS GIVEN

Believe That Publicly Will Bring More Men to the White House.

(Special By Scripps-McKee.)

Washington, Oct. 7.—Another crank tried to get at Roosevelt today and appeared at the north entrance of the White House and was admitted by the doorman. After being questioned he was turned over to the police.

Keep Very Quiet. After being questioned by the police he was locked up and nothing can be learned of the occurrence from officials today. It is felt that additional notoriety along this line may result in more calls from cranks.

Evidently Insane.

Later it was admitted at the White House the stranger had been observed wandering about the north lobby about ten o'clock. He had sneaked in the front door without being noticed. On being questioned he gave his name as John Decker and home as Norwich, Conn. He said he merely wanted to see the president and was turned over to the police. He was unarmed and made no hostile demonstration according to the statement of the officer in charge. Decker was about 44. From his general behavior the officers are convinced he is mentally unbalanced. He has the appearance of being a mechanic. Acting under orders from the White House the police authorities decline to let any one see or talk with him. He stated he had some papers relating to a money claims he wanted to show the president. It is learned while at the White House he talked in a rambling, incoherent manner. Among other things he said: "The devil is on my back and I want some take him off." He will be examined at the White House.

FROM THE WIRE

Chicago Market Talk on the Board of Trade This Morning.

The unfavorable weather northwest, and lighter receipts combined with some improvements in cash demand were responsible for another small advance in wheat. There was some selling of influential character in advance but prices held fairly well. The early advance was checked by Armour selling but there was another rally later on, and close is only a little under best prices of day. Everything considered the market was a strong one. There was a fair trade with local dealers seeking their home country for protection.

CLOSE Factories.

They forced the operators of the last factories to close down and collisions are constantly occurring between rioters and troops. The city officials have asked for a thousand troops for their protection.

FIREWORKS AT THE EXCHANGES

Electrical Storm Last Night Kept Telephone Operators Busy—Lines Cut Off.

The electrical storm last night made considerable trouble for the telephone companies. In the exchanges there were frequent flashes on the board and the lightning repeatedly blew the fuses and threw the drop. Some of the city lines were in bad shape early this morning but matters were righted before noon. Manager Gallon of the Wisconsin telephone Co., says that the lines to Stoughton, Whitewater, and Delavan were badly mixed up and Milwaukee and Chicago were cut off for a time this morning. There was no trouble, however, on the lines between Janesville and Dubuque, Iowa.

KILLED a Horse.

While Joe Zoellick was driving home last evening his horse ran against a telephone wire and dropped dead. The owner of the animal phoned for Officer Brown who was soon on the scene. As they could not remove the animal from the wire, they called for Chief Klein who after investigating, sent word to the Electric Light company to shut off the current on that circuit as it was evident that the telephone wire in falling had become crossed with a high voltage electric wire. It was a narrow escape for Zoellick for if the telephone wire had been hanging a little higher, the horse would have gone under it and the death dealing instrument would have probably struck the driver. The wire belonged to the Rock County telephone system.

A delightful dance was given at Central hall last evening by the young people's society of Trinity church. A good sized crowd appeared in spite of the stormy weather and the entrancing strains of Smith's orchestra kept the couples dancing until late in the evening when the party broke up. The floor committee was made up of two well known young men, Will Drummond and Charles Nott. Those in charge of the decorations had tastefully set up bunches of corn stalks, arranged pretty combinations of potted plants and through all the decorations had scattered pumpkins so that the hall was a place for a harvest dance. ## WEATHER TALK ABOUT CONDITIONS

Milwaukee Weather Bureau Sends Out Its Weekly Report of Crops.

The week was mainly favorable for farm work until Friday and Saturday, when general rains occurred. In the western portion of the state the storm was severe, and accompanied with high winds and heavy rains.

Killing frost occurred early in the week in some of the central and northwestern counties, but as the frost of September 18th destroyed most vegetation in those districts, little further damage resulted. Considerable winter wheat and rye were sown during the week, with the soil in very good condition. Pastures continue excellent and stock is reported in exceptionally good condition.

Corn

The frost of September 18th was the most general and severe of the season, killing corn along the western border of the southern section and in most localities in the western half of the central and northern counties. In low places elsewhere the crop was more or less injured. With reference to area, corn was killed over probably a little more than one-third of the state, but with reference to average production it is believed that not over 10 per cent. of the total crop was injured. In the main corn producing counties the crop has been injured by frost only in exposed places, and the major portion is now in shock or fully matured. The condition of the crop has been fully improved by the favorable weather during the week, and most correspondents in the corn producing counties state that the yield will exceed that of last year, which was given at 75 per cent. of a full crop by the department report on October 1st, 1902. In the northwestern counties little corn is raised except for fodder and for filling silos and the feeding value of the crop was lessened materially by the frost, but taking the state as a whole a very much better crop will be harvested than was thought possible at the beginning of September.

Potatoes

On sandy, upland soil the crop is fair to good, both in quality and yield, but on low land and heavy soil the rotting continues. Digging is well under way and the yield is generally very disappointing. It is not possible to give an estimate of the yield of sound potatoes, for in some localities in the main potato producing counties the crop is practically a failure, while in other localities a fair average crop is being secured. There is complaint of rotting after being dug, and what proportion of the crop will be marketable is difficult to state.

Minor Crops

A large and excellent crop of sugar beets is being harvested. Sorghum is a good crop but is reported as testing low. Tobacco is reported as curing well. Apples are mostly gathered and the crop is light but of fair quality. Cranberry picking is nearing completion.

Southern Section

Bristol, Kenosha county: No damage by frost to date; week favorable for late corn, which is maturing very rapidly; corn will be about an average crop.—F. R. Snyder.

Pewaukee, Waukesha county: Corn is a fair average crop, but only two-thirds of it was ripened, the other third is good yield and fair feed; potatoes one-third of a crop.—A. Caldwell.

Marshall, Dane county: Corn not damaged by frost; early corn is a good crop; weather the past week favorable for ripening late corn.—M. Lindas.

Livingston, Grant county: Very small part of corn crop cut; all corn frosted Sept. 18th and injured more or less; corn planted early on good soil is good crop.—A. Wells.

W. M. WILSON, Section Director.

DID NOT SCORE; GOOD RUNS MADE

JANESVILLE DID FINE WORK—
FLAHERTY STAR PLAYER.

GALBRAITH A GOOD QUARTER

Local Eleven Does Good Team Work—
Prospects Good for Game on Saturday.

The crowd at Athletic park yesterday afternoon when the football teams of Milton and Janesville lined up was slim and a drizzling rain setting in rather dampened the prospect. Enthusiasm increased, however, as the game progressed, and at the end with a score of 12 to 0 in Janesville's favor, it was good. The backs on the local team were good. There was some fumbling but that was to be expected in the first game of the season.

Good Work by Galbraith

During the first half the Milton fullback got away and made a thirty-yard run but was caught by Galbraith. In the second half there was lively play when the ball was on the 25 yard line, then the two Janesville backs did some good work and the team played well together. During the first half neither team scored but the ball was in Milton's territory until the last minute of the half when Rogers made the long run taking the ball to Janesville's ten yard line, when time was called. In the second half Milton kicked off and in the second play the Janesville captain helped by a good interference ran sixty yards for a touchdown. Carle kicked goal. After this with good team work Janesville got down to Milton's four-yard line. Millmore made the second touchdown and a hard goal was kicked by Carle. The following was the line-up:

MANY DOGS ARE ABOUT STREETS

Some Very Valuable Animals Are Owned in the City by Dog Fanciers.

The following conversation was heard in front of the postoffice the other evening: "Yes, sir; twenty-five dogs passed this point in half a minute."

"Impossible," replied some one. "It's a fact," said the first speaker, "there are more dogs in Janesville, for a town of its size, than any other place in the United States. You can't walk a block without tripping over some dog."

All Descriptions

The above may have been an exaggeration but there certainly are a large number of the canine tribe in the Bower City. Black dogs, white dogs, spotted dogs, streaked dogs, thin dogs and fat dogs, tall dogs and short dogs, tame dogs and wild dogs, curly canines with pedigrees a yard long and homeless curs who look as though they had seen better days. There are droves of this latter kind, but they would in a great measure disappear with the introduction of a license system. There are many fine dogs owned in the city also, some of them having won many prizes in the foremost shows of the country. Perhaps the cocker and spaniel lead in numbers and in this class there are a number of fine animals in the city. There are some good bulldogs, too, and these probably follow closely after the spaniels so far as numbers go.

Poodles at Corneau's

There are few real poodles in the city. W. H. Corneau has two that are the real thing. One is a male and the other a French poodle and they are general favorites with the guests at the hotel. James McLean also has a pair of poodles and people who ever own these dogs say that they are very intelligent but require much care and attention. Mr. Corneau thinks that there are no dogs like his and would not sell them for any consideration. James McLean is quite a dog fancier and can tell a good bulldog, as the two that he owns testify.

Collies and Hunting Dogs

Several families own collies and a number of these have been very successful in the show ring. Perhaps one of the best known dogs about town is the scotch terrier belonging to Horace McElroy. "Lassie" is a low rascish looking individual but he gets there just the same.

A large number of fine hunting dogs are owned by Janesville sportsmen, among them being the setters and pointers belonging to the McVairs, Mr. Soverill's fine English setter, Mr. McKinney's dogs and a number of others.

"I've Lost Money."

So Says Barney Dreyfuss,
Owner of Three Times
Champion Pittsburghs.

Again victors in the National league pennant race, the champion Pittsburgh Pirates are the most self satisfied young men in the entire sphere of baseball activity. Fred Clarke and his doughty tribe have again accomplished what the green diamond chaps considered impossible. In spite of the loss of Chesbro, Tannehill and other good men, Clarke rounded his badly shattered team into shape and, making

CAPTAIN FRED CLARKE OF PITTSBURGH on his way to the top of the ladder, climbing over New York, Chicago and other fast teams, he clung to the uppermost rung with a tenacity that rendered dislodgment impossible.

Now that the baseball season is over and gone Barney Dreyfuss, president and owner of the three champions, may write a book, taking for his theme "Baseball Is a Luxury." The owner of a team which has now won for the third time the National league pennant figures that he has lost money in baseball. He says that the same amount of time, energy and capital expended in almost any other business would have yielded far greater returns. Any one who wants now to trade a business of like magnitude in Pittsburgh or elsewhere for the three championship ball team may get the chance.

Dreyfuss says: "I hope to win the pennant next year again, and this would make four in a row—one more than any team ever won. This done, I will have enough. A baseball team is an expensive luxury, not a source of wealth, as is thought by many. The general impression seems to be that a great fortune is made each year by a winning ball team. I would like to say that if I depended upon baseball for my living I would be hungry often. I have the figures to prove this. I will trade my stock at par for a similar amount of stock at par in any good business in Pittsburgh. I will gladly take my money out of the ball team and invest it in any well established newspaper and will make more money."

New Men For Carlisle.
Glen S. Warner, coach of the Carlisle Indians, expects the new rules to benefit his team, inasmuch as some of the best plays in the Indians' repertory have been with seven men in the line. He has three new backs this year who promise well. They are Richard Hendricks, who has played in the west; Joseph Hoff, and Archie Libby, who promises to be a good substitute at quarter for Captain Johnson.

McGrath is Satisfied.
Manager McGrath, New York Nationals, says he will retain the entire team for next season. He will also keep his eye open for a couple more first class players, and the team will have at least two months in the south next spring before the championship season starts.

Quaker Football.
The old Pennsylvania players who thought they were to have a clinch in making the Quakers' team this fall are being severely shaken up by Conch Carl Williams. There may be some shakeups coming out at Harvard, too, before long.

CONDITIONS FAVOR GROWING CROPS*LITTLE IS EXPOSED TO FROST

About 15 Per Cent of the Crop Is Still Exposed, but Good Weather for a Few Days Will Maturity It—Rapid Progress in Cotton Picking.

Washington, Oct. 7.—The weather bureau's weekly summary of crop conditions is as follows:

In all districts east of the Rocky mountains the temperature conditions during the week ended Oct. 5 were highly favorable for unmatured crops. The northern portions of the upper Missouri and upper Mississippi valleys, and upper lake region and parts of Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas have suffered from excessive rains, while severe drought continues in the south Atlantic, central and east gulf states and in portions of Tennessee and the Ohio valley.

On the Pacific coast the week averaged cool, with showers during the latter part, which in portions of California were unfavorable for fruit drying. New Mexico and Arizona have received additional and beneficial rains.

Corn Does Well.

On the whole, the corn crop has experienced another favorable week, although the more northerly portions, in which rains have retarded maturing and cutting, would have done better with less moisture.

In Iowa 10 to 15 per cent of the area planted is still exposed in some measure to damage by heavy frost, but another week of warm, dry weather would ripen most of the belated crop.

In Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, Michigan and Wisconsin about 10 per cent of the crop is still exposed to injury from frost; in Indiana and southern Ohio about 5 per cent, and in northern Ohio from 5 to 25 per cent, except in the extreme northeast portions, where from one-half to three-fourths or more is still green.

In Wisconsin, Minnesota and South Dakota from 10 to 40 per cent has already been injured to a greater or less extent.

Rain Retards Thrashing.

Rains have retarded threshing of spring wheat in Minnesota and the Dakotas and caused further injury to grain in shock in South Dakota.

In the central and eastern districts of the cotton belt there was little or no rain during the week, and cotton picking progressed rapidly under favorable conditions. In Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas, however, picking was retarded by heavy rains, which caused considerable damage to open cotton, especially in Texas, where the opening of the young bolls has been checked by renewed growth of plant.

Reports indicate that about one-half of the prospective yield has been gathered in the central and eastern portions of the belt, the proportion gathered being considerably greater in Texas, where probably 60 to 70 per cent of the crop has been secured, while not more than 10 per cent has yet been picked in Oklahoma, Indian territory and Arkansas. On the whole, it appears that slightly more than one-half of the crop is now gathered.

Tobacco Is Housed.

The principal tobacco states have had favorable curing weather, and the portion of the crop remaining unharvested in Kentucky at the close of the previous week has been housed.

The continued prevalence of blight and rot in potatoes throughout the Northern states has materially shortened the yield of this crop.

Except in the middle and south Atlantic states and the portions of the Ohio and central Mississippi valleys

Mr. L. Lawrence of 408 S. Franklin St. engineer at the Janesville Electric Co., says: "Seven years ago I injured my back by falling through a bridge near Afton into the Rock River I was on a traction engine, its weight broke through and the whole thing went into the stream. Since that time my back has ached by spells sometimes very severely. If I caught cold it settled in my kidneys and if I brought a strain on my back lifting the result was a bad back ache and sharp twinges of pain in my loins. I procured Doan's Kidney pills at the People's Drug store and after I used them I was free from backache. I am in better health than at any time since falling through the bridge."

THINGS TO COMMAND

The Gazette has taken occasion to say some things of late about the common council, and with a desire to be perfectly fair, the paper is pleased to state that some things have been accomplished by way of permanent reform.

The system of city accounting has long been a byword, and principally noted for information that it did not contain. One of the first measures adopted was a new system of book-keeping in the city clerk's office, along lines recommended by the finance committee appointed last winter. This system is so plain that any one can comprehend it, and it shows the condition of every department at a glance. It also includes a system of duplicate bills for public inspection, so that any tax payer who is interested, can gain all the information he desires by simply inspecting the books at the city hall.

The tax levy, which was made the first of August after careful study and investigation, shows a saving over last year of some $7,000. When the fact is considered that the new council was confronted with an empty treasury, with every ward fund exhausted, and the general fund badly depleted and that no available funds were in sight, until the tax levy was made, it will be readily understood why street repairs and improvements were neglected.

The charter prohibits the borrowing of money for wards funds, and while for years, this provision was ignored, the present administration elected on a reform issue, did not feel warranted in violating the letter of the law.

Since the tax levy was made the street commissioner, with a good force of men, has been actively engaged on street repairs. Some $4,00 has been expended on McKey Boulevard and many other streets are undergoing needed repairs.

The bridges of the city have been put in good condition except Court street, which will be replaced by a steel structure in the early spring.

The steel and iron market is unsettled, and the council expect to make a better contract a little later than would be possible this fall.

It is a well known fact that a sewerage plan has been adopted, embracing some 15 districts. This means that the system can be gradually installed. The old council was criticized for macadamizing streets that were not sewered. One of the first streets to be improved next year is Milwaukee Avenue, and the council hope to have the sewerage put in before the street is macadamized.

Plans for the work of next year will be matured this winter, and they include the starting of the crusher plant in time to furnish material for street work.

Under a late decision of the supreme court the breweries of the state are subject to a license fee the same as the saloons. When this law is enforced, and notices have already been served, this will add to the city's revenue.

Whatever may have been done or neglected, there is no question about the honesty of purpose of the present council. The office of an unpaid city official is a thankless office and it is always difficult to find good men who are willing to make the sacrifice. The present council enjoys the confidence of the public, so far as integrity is concerned, and time will determine whether business sagacity and enterprise keeps pace with the progress of the city.

CHARGES RUIN TO UNION

The Morse Dry Docks Co. of New York, with $2,000,000 capital invested, employing 2200 men whose weekly wages amounted to $23,000 is in the hands of a receiver.

This industry was established 20 years ago by Mrs. Morse, a skilled mechanic, and under skilful management, developed to the largest ship yard on the Atlantic coast. The plant occupied several acres of land at South Brooklyn, and included 400 dwellings that were occupied by workmen.

Mr. Morse charges his failure directly to the oppression and unreasonable demands of organized labor. He declares that the fruits of his nineteen years of earnest and successful efforts have been snatched from him without a fault of his own, in spite of every effort to meet the demands of his employees within the bounds of what seemed to him to be justice.

Another effect of the closing of the Morse company will be to prevent the consummation of its absorption by the Roach Shipbuilding and Engine company. Recently the Morse company agreed to acquire the plant of the Roach company, situated at the foot of East Ninth Street, in this borough.

"Just as soon as the unions discovered our yards full of work," said Mr. Morse yesterday, "strikes began. Walking delegates were as familiar with the terms of our contracts as we, and knew they could force us to accept many of their demands."

"For instance, we found men loafing—even asleep—on the steamship Syria about a year ago, and they openly boasted that they had not lifted a hammer during the day, and that their organization did not have to work unless they so desired. We removed the foreman and got a trusted man to look after our interests. A strike was ordered, not only on that ship but on all our works. We were forced to give in, because millions of capital were at stake. We replaced the foreman and all the men discharged from the Syria. It is just there we made our mistake."

"The port of New York is losing all its shipbuilding trade through unionism."

This is only one of the many instances, where labor has killed the hen that laid the golden egg. A number of cases are now in the courts, where men are seeking to establish the right to conduct their own business, and protect themselves from bankruptcy.

These conditions are a sad comment on the intelligence of the age, and unless a halt is speedily called it means disaster to capital, and enforced idleness and suffering to labor. The large cities all over the land are handicapped by this sort of oppression and many smaller centers of industry are not exempt.

It is high time for organized labor to call a halt, and take account of stock. It is easy to declare strikes, close factories, and ruin business, but it is beyond the power of any organization to reverse the order, and set the wheels of industry in motion.

The empty dinner pail, and the soup house are not pleasant things to contemplate, but they are looming up in the distance, and will become matters of fact at an early day, unless organized labor pursue a more reasonable course.

A novel case is on the docket in a justice court in Chicago. A lady ordered a tailor made suit, was afterwards taken sick and lost 30 pounds. The garment of course was a misfit. The woman demands the $5.00 deposited with the order, while the manufacturer demands pay for the suit. The question to be settled is, was the woman or the gown a misfit.

A couple of sharpies stopped all traffic on Chestnut street Philadelphia, the other day. They were engaged in scrap over a straw. With one at each end they were engaged in a tug of war. A crowd soon gathered to watch results, and for a few moments all traffic was suspended. The staid old city of brotherly love should discourage street brawls.

At a recent examination of rail-way postal clerks, 42,000 postal cards were distributed at the rate of 33 1/2 per minute, without an error.

If some of these experts were put in charge of the newspaper department it might be possible for publishers to get action on delivery before the wrappers were worn out in transit.

If the president is still offering premiums for children he should send a check to the Bean family of New York. Three pairs of twins were contributed to the population one day last week, the grand mother daughter and grand daughter being a party to the transaction.

Unless the hunter's license money comes in faster than at present, industrious game wardens will be obliged to adopt an eight hour day and a wage scale to correspond.

Mr. Bryan is going abroad to study economical conditions. He will probably return with a primary law scheme for Nebraska.

There are plenty of men who will vote for Cleveland and bet on Roosevelt.

Horse Thieves Again: Officer Brown has received a telegram from the Harvard Ill. marshall asking the local department to look for a pair of black mares stolen near Harvard Sunday night. The animals are described as being of chunky build, weight 2400 pounds, each with a star on the forehead and one with left foot white above the ankle. The sum of $25 is offered as a re-

BARN FIRE DOES MUCH DAMAGE

Destroyed a Two-Story Structure, Despite Efforts of the Department.

Geo. McLean's barn on Jefferson street was struck by lightning last evening and burned to the ground. At eleven-forty-five in the evening the alarm was sent in from box 164, but the men had no sooner got out on the street when they saw that there was little hope of their arriving in time to save much as the heavens were already lit up with the bright glow, showing that the fire had the start of them. The apparatus made excellent time considering the storm and condition of the streets, but it was without avail and the fire consumed the entire barn which was a two-story frame building. A number of household articles were stored in the structure and three or four barrels of cider. There was $200 insurance on the barn, but the contents were a total loss.

CHANCES GOOD FOR FARNSWORTH

He Will Probably Be Elected President of the New State Merchants' Association.

At the recent meeting of the Forty Thousand club, of Madison, the proposition of joining the State Merchants' association was discussed and approved and it was further decided that the business men of the Capital City vote for Don Farnsworth of this city for the presidency of that organization. The meeting of the men interested in the forming of the state organization will be held in Milwaukee Thursday and D. W. Hayes of this city has been appointed to represent the Janesville Manufacturers' association at the Milwaukee meeting and the Janesville men also voted unanimously in favor of joining the state association. The chances of Mr. Farnsworth's selection to the head office of the new state organization are good, as his sterling qualities will give him the backing of the local association as well as that of many business men in the state.

AMBULANCE CALLS NOW GOTO RUSSELL

FIRE POLICE HAVE GIVEN UP THAT WORK.

IT IS AN IMPORTANT CHANGE

Owing to the New Wagon Being So Heavy, the Organization Discontinues This Service.

Owing to the purchase of the new fire and police patrol wagon that veteran organization last night decided to give the portion of the service, known as ambulance work and in the future all emergency calls will be answered by the new Russell ambulance on a call to their barns. This step was only taken by the fire and police corps after due consideration and in view of the fact that their new ambulance was much too heavy and too full of apparatus to properly care for the sick and wounded who might need their services.

New Arrangement

By the new arrangement emergency calls will be sent to the kusell stables where a horse is in waiting for service on the new Red Cross ambulance lately purchased by Mr. Russell. Drop harness has been provided and night or day the driver is on duty waiting a call. Should the case be one in which the services of the fire patrol are needed Mr. Russell is to call on as many as he sees fit for service. In other words, the new ambulance is merely following up the improved ideas and aside from all the conveniences that improved methods can suggest the members of the fire police will be at hand if needed, just the same as they have been for the past fourteen years.

Old Service

It was in August of 1889 that the fire police added the Red Cross feature to their work of firemen. At their own expense they purchased stretchers, emergency cases and a complete ambulance outfit. For fourteen years they have been at the post of duty whenever needed. In that time they handled hundreds of emergency cases by day or by night in clear or in stormy weather and they have never charged for their services. The company recently purchased a new combined patrol wagon and chemical engine and it was a question as to how they could continue the ambulance work.

Russell's Ambulance

At this time Mr. A. P. Russell purchased a new and finely equipped ambulance which is ready for instant service. At the meeting last night it was decided to abandon the ambulance service of the company and the organization offered their services to Mr. Russell for service if they were needed and this Mr. Russell accepted. Several of the members of the fire police are Red Cross members and their aid would be of great service to add to the efficiency of the ambulance.

THINKS JANESEVILLE A GOLD-BRICK TOWN

Frank Stevens says the amount of Worthless Stock Sold Here Is Enormous.

"It would surprise you to know how many hard working young lads and even middle-aged men there are in Janesville who have investments in worthless companies, blocks of stock that are not worth the paper they're printed on. It is something appalling. Wild-cat companies reap a harvest here every year."

Most Any Old Bait

Frank Stevens was not aware that he was talking for publication. He did not use exactly the words and phrases credited to him in the particular order observed above. What he did say, though, with considerable emphasis, was: "Janesville is filled with suckers that are anxious to take most any old bait."

Smooth-Tongued Stranger

Mr. Stevens has had ample opportunity to observe. While he says that a large element of Janesville's population may be tempted by most anything in the gold mine or oil well line, he admits that it is the stock quoted at ten cents a share by the smooth-tongued stranger that does the business. "I have an acquaintance who is selling some of this stuff; he gets fifty per cent. commission for all that he disposes of and he is doing a rushing business in the section where he travels," said Mr. Stevens.

Relates an Instance

"Just to show how much more willing the average man is to confide in a stranger than in a person he has known a long time, I will give you an instance. A man came to Janesville and bought a tract of land of me, the figure being $1,100. He paid $150 down. In the course of a short time before he had paid a cent of the balance he had persuaded seven people to build houses on that land and the structures were going up. He had no abstract—only a bond for the deed. In that instance it turned out all right, but the instance only serves to illustrate the point I make."

A BRIGHT SIGN

A. McLellan Illuminates North Main Street.

North Main street is illuminated in a noticeable manner by a new electrical sign which has recently been placed in front of Alex. McLellan's place. It is one of the latest ideas in this class of work having in connection a motor which operates the lights so that they change every minute. Mr. McLellan's place has always been popular and the new device over the door indicates to his friends that he is thoroughly up-to-date in his business methods.

RAIN INTERFERES WITH ATTENDANCE

Only Small Audience Sees "Man and Master"—"Golden Giant Mine"

Tonight.

The rain last night played havoc with the theater business and only a small audience greeted the Flora De Voss Co. in "Man and Master." The play deals with a blood-curdling murder committed for the purpose of fastening the guilt on an innocent party. Gerald Stone hopes to marry the daughter of the wealthy Sinclair family and wishes to remove her brother, Robert, that he (Stone) may get his hands on the whole estate. Leon Robertson was sufficiently realistic in the part of the villain to call down the hisses of the gallery. Miss De Voss appeared in the semi-comedy part of "Chic." W. J. Turner in the part of "Jerry" was again the favorite of the male cast with the audience. The play underway for this evening is "Golden Giant Mine."

WORST STORM OF THE FALL

STRIKES THE CITY LAST NIGHT—RAINS IN TORRENTS.

STREETS WERE IMPASSABLE

Linemen Busy Today, and Many Washouts Reported—Local Weather Bureau Sent Warning.

One of the fiercest storms of the fall struck Janesville with all its fury last night, bringing with the thunder and lightning gales of wind and cataracts of rain. The streets were tied up and traffic on the roads stopped for some time. Pedestrians who were unfortunate enough to be caught out in it or were obliged to be on the streets at the time the raging elements were at their worst, can best tell of the fury of the storm.

LINES DOWN

Telephone systems fared badly as did the telegraph and this morning linemen are busy and there is plenty of "trouble shooting" in the repair departments of the local companies.

Not only in the immediate vicinity but throughout central and southern Wisconsin was the strength of the storm felt.

STREETS FLOODED

The street intersections at the upper end of West Milwaukee street were flooded and water was standing nearly a foot deep for some time in front of the hotels across the street from the Northwestern depot. So bad was it in some places, that people who tried to reach the scene of the fire at eleven o'clock were obliged to go round the flooded portions.

BAROMETER FELL

The barometer began to fall early Monday morning and continued to go down till twenty-four hours before the rain began to fall, the temperature rising during the same time.

This is the second storm which has struck southern Wisconsin within two weeks and as both were extremely severe the occurrence is considered unusual.

TRACKS COVERED

Wires were kept hot last night by section foremen on both roads sending in bulletins concerning the conditions of the tracks on account of the heavy rain. Some railway men said that there was more water on the roadway in certain places than they had ever seen before, in a few districts the ground was completely flooded for hours during the night.

RUNNING OVER TIES

Along certain sections of the St. Paul line the water was up to the tops of the ties and along the lower ground it was running over the rails especially along the road between here and Chicago.

Star Witnesses Not Forthcoming at Minneapolis—He Will Not Return Home.

Word comes from Minneapolis to the effect that the trial of Captain Charles R. Hill, accused of accepting bribes under the Ames administration, has been continued with the consent of both the attorneys for defense and the state. It is understood that the plaintiff has not found evidence strong enough to convict and that some of the star witnesses have failed to materialize.

Will Return to Milton Freeman P. Lane, attorney for Capt. Hill, informed Judge Pond that his client would go back to his home in Milton Junction and that he wanted it distinctly understood that he was no fugitive from justice and could be had whenever wanted.

The judge replied that he would not go back with the consent of the court. "Very well, then, he will go without it," was Attorney Lane's rejoinder.

KING FOOTBALL REIGNS TODAY

Games Played on the Checkerboard in Both the East and West.

Today is another football day and King Football reigns supreme in the east and west while Chicago plays out of its class somewhat in meeting Cornell, the average will be found on which to base Coach Stagg's hopes for the western championship.

Although it is early in the season to get at form still today's game will be a good criterion to go by in the future and will give Stagg a chance to find just where his team is weakest before he meets Purdue Saturday.

Minnesota and Illinois both have easy teams to play and this finishes the western schedule. Michigan is still undergoing a severe case of sprouts under the tutelage of Coach Yost and Coach Curtis has placed the Wisconsin boys at secret practice behind closed gates.

No one is admitted and it is evident that such tactics so early in the season are meant to keep the public from knowing just how strong the team is or what weakness the team has.

Blair & Summers are securing many large contracts, this is but one of a number completed this season in process at the present time.

SYNOPSIS.

PART I.—Three rogues, Hayle, Kitwater and Codd, meet at Singapore. Latter two have learned of existence of hidden treasures at Sengkor-Wat-old Burmese ruin near Chinese border. Hayle only half believes account, but nevertheless agrees to join in search.

PART II.—Teaching Sengkor-Wat, the men make their way through the ancient streets and toward the once splendid palace. Toward dusk after a most tedious search they come upon secret entrance to underground vaults, in which are discovered great quantities of bar gold and uncut rubies. Kitwater, Hayle and Codd share hands with gems and the men make their way outside again. On reaching camp they find their two Burmese servants slain and horribly mutilated, Chinese fashion. During the night Hayle secures treasure and steals away into the jungle.

PART III.—Utterly exhausted and unconscious, Hayle is found by English officers near frontier station of Nampung. As soon as able he leaves for Hangchow and thence to England.

PART IV.—Two months later another officer at Nampung, who has on his hunt comes across Kitwater and Codd. Kitwater explains they were traders who had fallen into hands of Chinese who had put out his own eyes and pulled out Codd's tongue. After recovering somewhat from effects of exposure and tortures they set off in pursuit of Hayle.

CHAPTER I.—George Fairfax relates how he became detective in Australia and finally came to open up an office in London.

CHAPTER II.—Kitwater and Codd try to secure Fairfax's services. They represent themselves as missionaries returned from China where a native princess turned over to them on her death a great fortune which was stolen by a guest (Hayle) at the mission. Fairfax almost concludes not to take case.

CHAPTER III.—Miss Kitwater calls on Fairfax in behalf of her uncle and succeeds in persuading him to take up the work. The next day, strangers who call him Edward Ley of the San Cruz Mining company, seeks to get Fairfax to go to Argentina to shadow mine manager who is suspected of embezzlement. Detective replies he now has case on which will engage him for some time. Fairfax at a leading jeweler's learns that same morning largeuncertained sums have been received. He gives a full description of man whom they were bought.

CHAPTER IV.—One evening Fairfax finds himself followed by two ruffians, but manages to elude them. Suspecting they will repeat performance, he goes forth the next night, but with one of his most powerful men but a little behind. Finding that he is indeed followed, Fairfax turns into a dark street and runs about, shouting from a radio, "No coffee houses have been hired to brain him." Finding where they were to meet their principal, detective goes in their place to keep appointment. He conceals himself and is much surprised to see Mr. Hayle approach.

tary spoke to me about him after you had left. I had my doubts; now, however, they are quite removed.

Why should have called upon you in such a guise? Is a question I cannot for the life of me answer with any sort of satisfaction."

"Perhaps you will be a little more explicit," I said. "You have not told me yet how it is that you have been able to locate the gentleman in question. This morning you must remember you had no sort of remembrance of him."

"In that case you must forgive me," he replied. "As a matter of fact I was so much carried away by my excitement that I could think of nothing else. However, I have promised you the story, and you shall have it. Some years ago, eight or ten perhaps, we had a young man working for us in the Argentine as an overseer. He was in many respects a brilliant young fellow, and would doubtless have done well for himself in time, had he been able to go straight. Unfortunately, however, he did not do so. He went from bad to worse. At last he was caught in a flagrant piece of dishonesty, and was immediately discharged. When I tell you that that young man had a mark such as you described upon his cheek, you may be able to derive some idea of what follows."

"Might it not be a pure coincidence?" I replied.

"Not in this case, I fancy," he answered. "What makes me the more inclined to believe that it is the same individual, is the fact that our secretary met him in Leadenhall street street only a few days ago. He looked older, but had evidently prospered in the world. As a matter of fact, Warner described him as being irreproachably dressed and turned out. I trust his good fortune was honestly come by; but I must own, from what I know of him, that I have my doubts."

"But what possible reason could this individual have for calling upon me, and why should he have made me such an offer as I have described to you?"

The director shook his head. The question was evidently beyond him.

"I can assign no sort of reason for it," he said, "unless he has some hope of being able to get you out of England for a time."

"I can assign no sort of reason for it," he said, "unless he has some hope of being able to get you out of England for a time."

"But what possible reason could this individual have for calling upon me, and why should he have made me such an offer as I have described to you?"

The Art of Darning Shirt Waists.

IN THE old days, when our grandmothers, or even our mothers, were young, darning meant either rents in gowns to be neatly drawn together or stockings to be mended. But now darning is a pastime, an art, an accomplishment, if you will; but one need not be possessed of a patient mind or even an artistic soul to make for herself one of the new darned waistbands now shown in the shops. Shirt waists are the most elaborate of the many pretty things made of this curious old-fashioned huck toweling.

The material is bought by the yard at any linen store, and costs from 25 to 50 cents a yard, according to the quality and width. The best for the work is quite coarse, and as the loops or threads through which the pattern is worked are large and loose the work will be found not at all trying to the eyes. A rather large-eyed needle is used, and must be threaded with two threads of working cotton of different colors. Dark blue and red are the best colors if the article is to go to the laundry often, but there are many beautiful combinations which will stand an ordinary amount of washing very well. The effect of an "old bleach" waist, with cuff bands, stripe down box plait in front, and stocks, darned in turquoise blue and black, is very good. As the two threads are darned in at the same time, it is sometimes the blue and sometimes the black which shows the most. Pale blue and dark blue, light green and black, dark blue and green, pink and black are all good color schemes, and if something very extra is wished three threads—black, light blue and shrimp pink—are very rich, all three being worked in at once.

Expert Parrot Cyclist.
In Berlin a parrot cyclist is drawing great crowds of admirers. The bird conducts itself like an experienced rider, working its feet the pedals of a diminutive machine whose grooved tire runs along a tight-rope. With its head it manages the handle bar. It carries along another parrot hanging on a trapeze beneath, and thus maintains perfect equilibrium.

PREFERS HOME LIFE

WHY MARY ANDERSON WILL NOT RETURN TO THE FOOTLIGHTS.

Once the Idol of the American Stage, She Has Been Many Years In Retirement—Reminiscences of Her Career.

Mary Anderson, for years America's most famous actress, who was recently guaranteed $250,000 for a series of readings in this country, has, it is announced, declined this munificent offer and will remain in the seclusion of domestic life. Miss Anderson retired from the stage fourteen years ago and since that time has refused many flattering inducements to return to the theatrical world.

Mary Anderson was the idol of American theatergoers from the time of her first appearance at the age of sixteen until she finally bade goodbye to the footlights. Since her retirement she has lived a quiet life in England with her husband and family. She has been much interested in charitable schemes, and much of her spare time has been devoted to helpful work among the poor.

Mary Anderson is a native of California, but her girlhood days were passed in Louisville. Even as a child she gave evidence of the genius that was later to blossom forth. She received every encouragement from her stepfather, Dr. Hamilton Griffin, her own father, Charles Joseph Anderson, having died in 1863, when she was but four years old.

A schoolmate relates that Mary used to collect her friends around her after school, mount the steps and recite. Not content with recitations on the portico, she organized a company of her own composed of her companions. The performances were given in a cellar of the house occupied by a neighbor named Sulzer.

As she grew older it was decided by her mother and Dr. Griffin that she should be allowed to follow her inclinations for a stage career. Dr. Griffin prevailed on John McCullough, who was playing an engagement in Louisville, to give his stepdaughter a hearing.

McCullough hated stagestruck people and said as much. He went to the house, he afterward owned, only to rid himself of Dr. Griffin's importunities. "Arriving at our home," said Miss Anderson in relating the incident long afterward, "he seemed bored and was generally disagreeable. I have only a quarter of an hour," he said, "and as you will have my opinion of your daughter's abilities she had better begin at once." In spite of his discouraging manner I went through the portion scene of 'Romeo and Juliet.' When I had finished, his manner had changed. He remained for several hours, acting with me scenes from all the plays I knew.

"Mr. McCullough introduced us to Barney Macaulay, manager of the Macaulay theater, 'Barney,' said he, 'when you can, put this girl on the stage. If I am a judge of such matters she will make fortune for you.'" On Nov. 27, 1875, at Macaulay's theater, Louisville, Miss. Anderson made her first professional appearance on the stage. The play was "Romeo and Juliet," and her success was instantaneous. Two years later she made her debut in New York at the Fifth Avenue theater and scored a brilliant triumph. Perhaps the most notable achievement in her career was her revival of "The Winter's Tale" in London and afterward in this country.

It was early in 1889 that the American public saw Mary Anderson for the last time on the stage. The effects of overwork had shown themselves during the latter part of the preceding year, but she persisted in fulfilling the engagements made for her. In March, 1889, though ill, she played an engagement at Washington, but that was her last public appearance.

The following April she sailed from New York and for an entire year sought seclusion in England. There on June 17, 1890, she was married to Mr. Antonio de Navarro, a friend of over ten years' standing.

The young people traveled over Europe for awhile and then returned to England and settled down at Tunbridge Wells, later removing to Broadway, Worcestershire. Several children have been born to them, but only one, Tony, a bright boy of about seven years, is living.

I went to sleep that night and awoke next day much relieved and I have gotten entirely over the Asthma. It is now nine years since I was cured."

Healthy Babies

Motherhood

MOTHERHOOD is the reward nature bestows upon healthy womanhood. Women whose vitality has been sapped by disease cannot safely give birth to children. In pregnancy and in childbirth weakness of the mother is revealed in the pain and agony she suffers.

This great medicine drives out every vestige of inflammation and weakness, and gives tone and strength to the delicate organs which mature the child. The pains of pregnancy are banished by Wine of Cardui, and miscarriages, which blast so many fond mother's hopes, are prevented. Flooding, which so often occurs after childbirth, is corrected when Wine of Cardui is used during pregnancy. Wine of Cardui babies are healthy babies, because, during the months of pregnancy, the mother is able to give them necessary vitality and strength.

With these facts presented to American women no expectant mother should be satisfied without the reinforcement that Wine of Cardui will give her. Every mother should be able to treat herself in her home with this valuable medicine.

Wine of Cardui can be secured from any druggist at $1.00 a bottle.

Polycarp, N. C., Jan. 11, 1902.
I am the mother of seven children and while in pregnancy with the first six suffered untold misery until they were born. One month before the seventh was born I began to take a bottle of Wine of Cardui, which gave me relief after taking three doses. I used the remainder of the bottle until the birth of the child, and was stouter in three days after the birth than I was in a month after the birth of either of the first six. I am 29 years old.

MRS. V. ELIZABETH STAFFORD.
